

NICKL FOUNDATION

ARCHITECTURE FOR HEALTH STUDENTS' AWARD

EUROPEAN NETWORK ARCHITECTURE FOR HEALTH

ARCHITECTURE FOR HEALTH STUDENTS' AWARD 2021 - CALL OPEN!

We are proud to present the second edition of Nickl Foundation's Architecture for Health Students' Award.

The award recognizes master students who have excelled in a thesis on topics related to Architecture for Health.

The award intends to promote working in the field of healthcare architecture or architecture & urbanism for health and to encourage students in their motivation to engage in this important topic

Projects can be submitted from the fields of

- architecture
- urban planning
- landscape planning.

The work should have a strong relation to current health care issues. In addition to designs for hospitals, healthcare buildings and residential buildings for people with special needs, works in relation to healthy urban planning, sports & wellness or health & hospitality can be submitted.

The Architecture for Health Students' Award is endowed with 4000 EUR.

Submission deadline: 31st October 2020

More information and application form: <http://www.enah.eu/students-award-2021>